

Are You Losing Your Competitive Edge To Germs?

The indirect costs of workplace illness is staggering. By one estimate over $70 billion is lost to absenteeism annually with another $75 billion loss in productivity of employees who come to work sick. The National Center for Health Statistics reports that the average per-employee cost of absenteeism has hit an all-time high of over $800 per year. Workers in the United States miss an average of 1.5 days per year because of the flu alone—that cost businesses $20 billion in lost productivity annually.

Now you can control the spread of illness-causing bacteria, viruses, and germs in your workplace with SaniGuard®, by killing them on the surfaces where they live before they spread to staff and their families.

Germs And Bacteria Bring New Meanings to Computer Viruses

According to a recent study of germs in the workplace the average office desk harbors over 10 million germs—400 times more bacteria than the average toilet seat! In many companies janitorial staff has been instructed to stay away from desks and cubicles, which many people view as their personal space.

Because SaniGuard® dries-on-contact it can be used on “hot spot” surfaces other products cannot, such as:

- Computer Keyboards and Mouse
- Phones
- Calculators and Electronic Devices
- Printers and Fax Machines
- File Cabinets
- Water Fountains
- Door Handles
- Light Switches

SaniGuard® allows desks and workstations to be sanitized without being disturbed.
